Winning beyond the gridiron. CFL's Geroy Simon sets out to inspire Saskatoon kids

MORGAN MODJESKI
morgan.modjeski@metronews.ca

A big star has a big message for the city's Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

On Thursday morning, Geroy Simon, the Saskatchewan Roughriders' slotback and all-time career leader in CFL receiving yards, was in Saskatoon to speak at the Big Brothers Big Sisters of Saskatoon and Area's third-annual Big Breakfast.

"I think it's important for me to get out and share my story, share some of the struggles that I've been through and help kids go in the right direction," Simon said.

"There's going to be some challenges in life, but you've got to face those challenges and as many times as you fall down, you have to get up and keep fighting because success can be right around the corner."

The Big Breakfast raises funds for the organization's Campaign 4 Kids, which is set to help Big Brothers Big Sisters of Saskatoon and Area meet the demands of growth estimated at approximately 400 new mentorship cases by 2014.

John Allen, marketing and recruitment co-ordinator with Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Saskatoon, said one of the most important things a child can have while growing up is a good role model, adding he feels Simon is the perfect example.

"He's just amazing. Everything he looks on is with a positive nature and he really shines," Allen said. "We did an event yesterday with some of our littles and him, and it just showed me how important our organization is, because when Geroy would go up and speak to one of these kids one-on-one, you could just see them light up."

He continued, "That's our program, that's what it's all about. These kids need that one-on-one time, they need someone to direct them on the right path and just be that positive role model."

City says it saved $600K after suspending back-lane pickup

Brenda Wallace, environmental services branch manager for the city, says good weather is enabling the city to resume normal garbage pickup service a week earlier than planned. JANE CAULFIELD/METRO

Garbage day.
City official says drying conditions mean garbage trucks are now able to get into back lanes

jane.caulfield@metronews.ca

The nice weather has dried up the last signs of winter, which means the city can resume normal garbage pickup on Monday, nearly a week sooner than originally planned.

Brenda Wallace, environmental services branch manager for the city, said the original plan was to resume regular pickup service on May 18, but the recent mix of sunshine and wind has worked in the city's favour.

"We're very pleased that we've had great drying conditions over the last week in particular," said Wallace. "The garbage trucks and the recycling trucks are now able to get into the back lane successfully."

The city suspended back-lane pickup for nearly 18,000 homes and initiated citywide front-street pickup in March after garbage trucks kept getting stuck in snow-filled back lanes.

Wallace said by doing so, the city managed to avoid damage to trucks, lanes and private property, ultimately saving the city hundreds of thousands of dollars in repairs.

"We anticipate the savings to the back lanes themselves is about $600,000," said Wallace.

When city council discussed resuming back-lane pickup at its meeting on Monday, some councillors mentioned constituents who thought front-street pickup was more convenient.

"We are willing to do some surveying and we will consider a change in service location," said Wallace. "We want to provide the service, where people want the service."

She did say that a change of service cannot be done on a house-by-house basis, but could be done for a specific geographic area, such as an entire street.

Rick Mercer rants at the U of S conference

Hundreds of delegates at the annual University of Saskatchewan's Leadership Conference sat through an hour-long rant on Thursday afternoon.

But it wasn't an angry, bitter rant — it was a rant about the diverse characteristics in the nation's leaders, workers and everyone in between by Canada's most beloved ranter, Rick Mercer.

"People work so hard. They don't get enough credit in this country. Canadians work so hard and that's all across the country," Mercer said to the crowd.

Having to travel back and forth across the country for his day job as host of the CBC's Rick Mercer Report, he spoke about how Canada's culture changes dramatically from province to province but noted there is also distinct patriotism shared amongst Canadians.

"If you start talking about our country as a whole, it's very easy to start talking about our differences. It's very difficult to talk about our similarities. And when you start talking about what it means to be a Canadian, that's a whole (new) ball of wax," he said. "It's like every single person knows what it feels like to be a Canadian.

"It's like an emotion that someone forgot to come up with a name for."

Mercer's keynote address was the final cap on a two-day conference hosted by the university.

The event saw hundreds of academic and business leaders come together for a series of discussions and panels about leadership within the community.

Mothers know best

In honour of Mother's Day — which is this Sunday, in case you forgot — Metro hit the streets to find out some of the best advice Saskatchewan residents have ever gotten from Mom

MORGAN MODJESKI/METRO IN SASKATOON AND JEFF MACKEY/METRO IN REGINA

Leona Wolfe, 58 Addictions counsellor, Saskatoon

"She always told me to forgive, no matter what one does to you, because if you don't you're going to have the sickness come upon you yourself, because of holding negativity in your body, it has nowhere to go.... So that's the kindest and best thing she had ever taught me."

Dayle Schroeder, 29 Production co-ordinator, Regina

"Don't have difficult conversations after midnight.... But the main one is don't date guys who are mean to pets or waitresses."

Stephanie Twardzik, 19 Hostess, Saskatoon

"Probably just to work hard for what you have and what you want.... If you go to work, just give it your all and don't slack off."

Devin Hillier, 26, Co-operators Insurance, Regina

"My mom said always to smile. That isn't the only thing I learned from her but it might be the main thing — just always smile."

Brandon Triolo, 21 Chef in training, Saskatoon

"The best advice she ever gave me was 'stupid is as stupid does.' She always said that for the longest time, and I never understood what she meant until I watched Forrest Gump one day and he said that. And it basically means if you're stupid, you'll do stupid things, so try to be smart.... That's the best advice she ever gave me, and I live by that every day."

Ashlee Romich, 25 Resource planner, Regina

"To treat others how you would want to be treated. And if you're going to say something to someone else that would offend you if they said it to you, maybe don't say it."

Spring run-off

Flood waters subsiding: Officials

The Saskatchewan Water Security Agency says most of the spring run-off is over, and places that had localized flooding should see an improvement over the next few days.

Spokesman Patrick Boyle said a few places — especially along the Qu'Appelle Lakes — still need to be prepared for water levels to rise over the next couple of weeks. But he said flooding won't be as bad as it was in 2011.

Fifty-five communities have asked the province for disaster assistance because of flooding, up from 48 communities on Wednesday. Water is also still covering the eastbound lanes of Highway 16 near Radisson, forcing cars to be detoured.

One-year deal

Pharmacists win higher fees, other concessions

The province has reached a deal with pharmacists aimed at reducing the impact of lower generic drug costs.

The one-year agreement increases dispensing fees by 50 cents to $10.75 per prescription and restructures a program for pharmacies that receive an annual fee for services to seniors with chronic conditions.

Pharmacists will also be compensated for work they do to help people stop smoking, costs incurred by pharmacists up until now.

The Pharmacists' Association of Saskatchewan said the deal is an important start in the creation of a long-term strategy for pharmacy services.

More money woes

USask facing $3.3M deficit

The University of Saskatchewan has approved an operating budget with a projected deficit of $3.3 million.

The school says projected revenue is just under $468 million, but operating expenses are expected to be more than $471 million for the next school year.

Officials say the deficit would be higher without job and program cuts already made to save money.

The university also plans to save $2 million by putting off some spending for infrastructure renewal. A tuition increase of about 4.5 per cent was announced in March.

The budget details come as the university tries to address a projected $44.5-million annual deficit in its operating budget by 2016.

Magic mushrooms give some depression sufferers high hopes

Potential. Research shows that the active ingredient dampens part of the brain that is overactive in depressed people

KIERON MONKS
Metro World News

Desperate for a fix, David Nutt considered buying magic mushrooms from the street. Restrictions on the drug were making it impossible to conduct clinical trials, and Nutt had no way to secure the mushrooms that are widely available from illegal dealers.

"Fortunately the publicity helped. We are optimistic about the licence and supply now," Nutt, head of neuropsychopharmacology at Imperial College London in the U.K., told Metro.

No stranger to controversy — Nutt was fired as government adviser for claiming ecstasy is as safe as horse riding — he is set to push the boundaries with the first trial of magic mushrooms to treat depression.

Research has shown that psilocybin, the active ingredient in mushrooms, dampens the brain's anterior cingulate cortex, which is overactive in depression sufferers. Trials will target the most severe cases. "The hypothesis is lasting benefits for people who have not responded to interventions," says Nutt. If the treatment seems radical, the professor argues it is proportionate. "Depression is the largest cause of disability in Europe, and only two-thirds of people get well. The rest are out of work and can't cope — we have to try everything."

But despite a rigorous attachment to evidence, Nutt admits he is fighting a crusade and wants to "tap into a reservoir" of hard drugs in clinical practice. "It's a campaign for the liberation of science — drug laws have censored research in this field for 60 years. I think it's the worst censorship since the Catholic Church stopped Galileo using his telescope."

Psilocybin and other mind-altering drugs are becoming popular solutions to a broad spectrum of mental-health issues. A 2012 study found that ecstasy chemical MDMA had a lasting impact on post-traumatic stress disorder. Norwegian academics recently found that LSD improved misuse rates in 59 per cent of alcoholics.

"LSD seems to help people see their problems in a different light, to give new insights into their problems ... and to make a strong resolution to discontinue their drinking," said psychologist Pål Johansen.

A treatment 'prospector'

"I'm not saying we will revolutionize depression treatment, but there is a group for whom it will be useful."
U.K. professor David Nutt

A grave problem. Final, secret resting grounds for Boston bombing suspect finally found

Boston Marathon bombing suspect Tamerlan Tsarnaev has been buried in an undisclosed place outside the city of Worcester, Mass., police said Thursday after a frustrating weeklong search for a community willing to take the body.

"As a result of our public appeal for help, a courageous and compassionate individual came forward to provide the assistance needed to properly bury the deceased," Worcester police said in a statement.

Sgt. Kerry Hazelhurst said the body was no longer in Worcester and is now entombed. Police did not specify where the body was taken.

T.O. man charged with kidnapping, sex assault

A man is facing 10 charges, including kidnapping, robbery and sexual assault, after police say a 61-year-old woman was car-jacked while sitting in front of a Toronto coffee shop. Police say the incident happened early Wednesday morning. It's alleged the man demanded money and credit cards from the woman, then ordered her to drive to a secluded area where he sexually assaulted her. Seven charges. Women gave no indication other brothers were involved: Police chief

The man accused of raping and kidnapping three women, who were missing for about a decade before being found alive at his home, was ordered held Thursday on $8-million bail.

Ariel Castro looked down at the ground for almost the entire arraignment hearing. He didn't speak.

The women found alive after a decade in captivity endured lonely, dark lives inside a dingy home where they were raped and allowed outside only a handful of times in disguises while walking to a garage steps away, investigators say. One of their young daughters was also freed from the house.

The 52-year-old former school-bus driver has emerged as the lone suspect.

Daughter's tearful apology

Castro's daughter, Arlene Castro, appeared on Good Morning America on Thursday. She tearfully described being embarrassed and devastated upon learning of her father's suspected role in her good friend Gina DeJesus' kidnapping.

- Arlene was walking home from school with DeJesus in April 2004 just before she disappeared. "I would like to say I'm absolutely so, so sorry," she said. "I really want to see you Gina and I want you to meet my kids. I'm so sorry about everything."

Assistant county prosecutor Brian Murphy said the women were beaten repeatedly and sexually assaulted. He said Castro used the women "in whatever self-gratifying, self-serving way he saw fit."

Memorial. Cemetery denies request from rapper's family to inscribe headstone with profanity-laced lyrics

Commissioners at a Massachusetts cemetery have said no to profanity on headstones.

Sonny Santiago, 23, was a rapper who died in a car crash in February. Commissioners at Pine Grove Cemetery in Lynn this week unanimously rejected his family's request to inscribe his gravestone with a song verse that included profanity.

The commission became aware of the language when the company inscribing the three-foot-tall memorial submitted drawings to commissioners.

Pine Grove Cemetery regulations posted online state that "the cemetery office must approve all inscription work on monuments."

"We've never had a problem like this before," commission chairman Arthur Dulong told The Daily Item of Lynn.

City officials contacted the family about the inscription and they agreed to have the gravestone inscribed with a different, profanity-free verse.

More problems

The commission's dispute with Santiago's family is not over. The family added a three-foot-by-eight-foot decoration made from mulch and rocks on his gravesite shaped like the number "1." Uno was his performance name. The family has been asked to remove the decoration because it does not conform to cemetery rules. "It's not fair," said Santiago's mother, Ana DeJesus.

Experimental Lakes research given new life

Fed deal. Show will go on at Canadian science hub that had funding slashed by Tories

Forty-four years of continuous freshwater research at the world-renowned Experimental Lakes Area in northwestern Ontario will not be interrupted this summer after all.

The federal government has agreed to permit continuing data collection this season as it wraps up negotiations with a Winnipeg-based non-governmental research institute to take over management of the remote 58-lake centre.

Finance Minister Jim Flaherty killed the $2-million annual stipend for the ELA in last year's Conservative budget, and even fully funded researchers were being told as recently as last month that no work would be allowed to take place there this year.

The centre — not well known outside scientific circles — had become a political embarrassment for the government, a lightning rod for critics who say the spend-thrift Conservatives are hacking away at environmental science while spending huge amounts on advertising and communications.

Fisheries Minister Keith Ashfield said Thursday that he has signed a memorandum of understanding with the International Institute for Sustainable Development, "an internationally renowned public policy research institute."

Ontario Premier Kathleen Wynne has already said the province will help with operating costs. The province of Manitoba is also part of negotiations and others are being sought. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Why the ELA matters

- Founded in 1968 under the long-defunct Fisheries Research Board of Canada, the ELA is credited with critical work on mercury pollution, acid rain, climate change, phosphate pollutants, algae blooms and more.
- New research on silver nanoparticles, commonly used in clothing, was interrupted this spring by the 2012 federal funding cut.

Third man arrested in U.S. over alleged VIA Rail terror plot

Recruiter? Authorities say Tunisian 'radicalized' a Montreal man who planned to help blow up a cross-border train

A VIA Rail employee climbs aboard a locomotive at the train station in Ottawa in December 2012. U.S. authorities say they have arrested a man in connection with an alleged plot to attack a VIA Rail train that travels between the U.S. and Canada. ADRIAN WYLD/THE CANADIAN PRESS

A former Canadian resident charged with terrorism offences in the U.S. allegedly radicalized a Montreal man accused of plotting to attack a VIA Rail train, U.S. authorities said Thursday.

Tunisian Ahmed Abassi was charged with fraudulently applying for a visa in order to remain in the U.S. to facilitate an "act of international terrorism."

Two Canadian residents — Raed Jaser of Toronto and Chiheb Esseghaier of Montreal — face terrorism-related charges.

Details of Abassi's arrest and charges were included in a release on Thursday. According to the release, Abassi met with Esseghaier in New York City.

"Esseghaier, who was recently arrested in Canada and is currently incarcerated there on terrorism charges, was previously radicalized by Abassi," the release said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Disney snuffs out Day of Dead trademark request

Patently ridiculous.
The Mouse backs down after Latino activists mock its attempt to appropriate cultural holiday for film

When Lalo Alcaraz learned this week that Disney was seeking to trademark Dia de los Muertos, the name of the traditional Day of the Dead celebrated by millions in Mexico and the U.S., the cartoonist had an idea.

The trademark was for an animated movie by Disney and Pixar Animation Studios Inc. that is inspired by the holiday.

The Los Angeles-based humorist created a movie poster that quickly went viral of a skeletal Godzilla-sized Mickey Mouse, with the words: "It's coming to trademark your cultura (culture)."

Anger and ridicule expressed on social media largely by Latinos began circulating. On Tuesday, Disney said it was no longer seeking a Dia de los Muertos trademark request because the film's name will change before its release.

"Disney's trademark filing was intended to protect any potential title for our film and related activities," a company statement said. "It has since been determined that the title of the film will change."

Disney has not said that social-media responses were responsible for the withdrawn trademark request. The company did not immediately return a phone call from The Associated Press. Whatever the reason, the episode showed how quickly reactions to even the smallest corporate move can spread online and lead to calls for boycotts.

Air safety. EasyJet to test ash-detection system

A U.K. budget airline will create an artificial volcanic ash cloud over Europe this summer to test ash-detection technology. The experiment aims to avoid the kind of chaos that paralyzed the continent's air traffic during eruptions in Iceland three years ago.

Thursday's announcement was made by EasyJet, which acquired a ton of ash collected in Iceland by scientists in the months after the 2010 eruptions for its test. EasyJet PLC said it is working on developing infrared technology fitted to planes that will feed images of an ash cloud to pilots and control operators on the ground.

Epic hack. Cyber-gang stole $45M, U.S. authorities say

A worldwide gang of criminals stole a total of $45 million US in a matter of hours by hacking their way into a database of prepaid debit cards and then draining cash machines around the globe, federal prosecutors said Thursday — and outmoded U.S. card technology may be partly to blame.

Seven people are under arrest in the U.S. in connection with the case, which prosecutors said involved thousands of thefts from ATMs using bogus magnetic swipe cards carrying information from Middle Eastern banks. The fraudsters moved with astounding speed to loot financial institutions around the world, working in cells, including one in New York, Brooklyn U.S. attorney Loretta Lynch said.

She called it "a massive 21st-century bank heist" carried out by brazen thieves.

One of the suspects was caught on surveillance cameras, his backpack increasingly loaded down with cash, authorities said.

MOST BEAUTIFUL LIST IS COMPLICATED

THE METRO LIST

And now from Metro News Central, here's the weekly list of things that make you go … hmmm?

1 Bye-bye beautiful. Hello! Magazine Canada is out with its list of 50 Most Beautiful Canadians and a face only Chad Kroeger could love is on the cover. Besides Avril Lavigne, other beauties include Justin Bieber and the Ryans, Reynolds and Gosling. Of course, none of these people actually live in Canada.

2 Came from away. Some people actually want to live in Canada. Quite a lot of people, actually. According to the latest census results, released this week, 6.8 million Canadian residents came from someplace else.

3 The world is a safer place this week. Cleveland man Ariel Castro was arrested and charged with rape and kidnapping after three women allegedly escaped from his clutches after being held captive for a decade; bad boy and former Italian prime minister Silvio Berlusconi had his four-year sentence for tax evasion upheld; and Hans Lipschis, a guard at Auschwitz from 1941-45, was arrested in Germany this week. Lipschis is 93 years old. Karma is not always instant.

4 The world is not a safer place this week. If you've got a commercial 3D printer, 60 bucks worth of plastic and Wi-Fi, you can print your own arsenal. A University of Texas law student is the first to print up a working .38-calibre handgun. He won't be the last.

5 The world is not a safer place, especially if you're a chicken. Some kid at the College of Art and Design in Calgary slaughtered a chicken in the school cafeteria recently in an act of "performance art." The kid's instructor was fired, presumably, for not being able to tell the difference between art and life. Some of his students are protesting his dismissal. The chicken was not consulted.

6 Speaking of life and art. One of the most popular baby names for girls in 2012 was "Arya," after Arya Stark, a feisty girl character in the fantasy epic Game of Thrones series that has captivated the nerdiverse. Jacob and Sophia were the most popular baby names in 2012. That's AD, not BC, although they were probably pretty hot back then, too.

7 Hockey Night in Canada continues. Sadly, not for the Vancouver Canucks, who were swallowed whole by the San Jose Sharks in four straight games. As this is written, the Montreal Canadiens, the Ottawa Senators and even the Toronto Maple Leafs are still in the quest for Lord Stanley's Cup. Well, at least Vancouver still has Lord Stanley's Park, which this week was declared the No. 2 most beautiful city park in the world by Travel + Leisure magazine. No. 1 is Park Güell, designed by the weird and wonderful Antoni Gaudí, in Barcelona. And isn't this where we came in?

SCENE

Synopsis

Set in the Jazz Age — early 1920s in New York. Nick Carraway (Tobey Maguire) is working as a stockbroker in the city while living in a wealthy suburban enclave. His neighbour is the enigmatic Jay Gatsby (Leonardo Di Caprio), whose ornate mansion plays host to wild weekend parties. Turns out he isn't the aristocrat he claims to be, but the son of dirt-poor farmers who made a fortune as a bootlegger. Nick soon learns his cousin Daisy (Carey Mulligan) was Gatsby's first love. Gatsby and Daisy try to pick up where they left off, but Gatsby proves unable to control the future as adeptly as he created his past.

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Pushing up Daisy

The Great Gatsby. There's plenty of eye candy here, but the real razzle-dazzle is in Carey Mulligan's portrayal of Daisy

Richard: Mark, Baz Luhrmann may be the perfect person to retell Jay Gatsby's Roaring Twenties' story. Equally at home with razzle-dazzle and substance, he captures the tone of the Jazz Age while still allowing the story's deeper resonance to shine through the gloss. It's eye candy, pure and simple, and yet the sense of doom that hangs over the beautiful and damned characters in the story is palpable. Without it this would be just another story about pretty people doing pretty-people things.

Mark: Richard, I approached this movie with some trepidation. Luhrmann is such an overwhelming director, and Fitzgerald's book can be as delicate as chiffon. And for the first half hour, it seemed that the story would be swallowed up in crazed, hallucinogenic fantasias of swirling 3D visuals, not that there's anything wrong with that. It's amazing to watch. But then the movie settled down and captured the beautiful and tragic romance between Gatsby and Daisy, and became profoundly moving. The actors all play their parts well, but I have to say the film belongs to Carey Mulligan. You, Richard?

RC: Absolutely. Daisy is one of Fitzgerald's "bright precious things," a hothouse flower and Mulligan has a face capable of simultaneously showing great happiness and profound sadness, a duality that serves her character well. She effortlessly tosses off shallow lines like, "Your life is adorable," while digging deep to convey Daisy's conflicted nature.

MB: She's exactly as I imagined her when I first read the novel over 40 years ago. I wasn't as sure about DiCaprio at first, but he grew on me. I loved the way Luhrmann took vintage movies of New York in the '20s and colourized them, and then converted them to 3D. There's a scene that takes place on a rooftop patio overlooking Times Square that completely changed the way I imagined Manhattan of the past. But what did you think of the anachronistic score? Did you have an issue with it?

RC: It's probably my least favourite part of the film. I get what Luhrmann was trying to do, but here, unlike Moulin Rouge! it doesn't really work. The Jazz Age Amy Winehouse song is OK, but the Jay-Z tune feels more like an attempt to sell soundtracks than serve the story.

MB: The film is sooooo superior to the 1974 Robert Redford/Mia Farrow version that I will forgive him almost anything. People will come for the visuals, but they'll leave touched by the story. And the clothes.

Drama

Mad Ship

Director. David Mortin

Stars. Nikolaj Lie Kaas, Gil Bellows

Don't be fooled. Although its ominous title suggests a goofy horror flick, Mad Ship is far from delivering a fun, spooky ride — although it is a bit scary. A morose movie about an immigrant family defeated by the Great Depression, the persevering (and possibly insane) patriarch builds a boat to sail back home across the prairies. Sure, it's a strong metaphor about survival but even with a compelling cast, this ship still ultimately sinks.

STEVE GOW

The Great Gatsby

"I don't think about expectations. Everything I did in this work, everything we did, the focus was to try and reveal the novel... The novel wasn't set in a period called the 'Minimal Twenties.' It was called the 'Roaring Twenties.' So it had to roar."

Baz Luhrmann on directing the newest adaptation of F. Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby

Miley Cyrus, 20, takes top honours, while Selena Gomez, 20 is second, followed by Rihanna, 25, Mila Kunis, 29, and Jennifer Lawrence, 22. Fall Out Boy's Wentz opens up about his drug addiction

THE WORD
Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

The 33-year-old bassist for Fall Out Boy (and the ex of one Ashlee Simpson) opens up in a new issue of Rolling Stone about how he sunk into a pill addiction after Fall Out Boy went on hiatus in 2009.

The rocker says he abused Xanax and Klonopin, which are primarily used to treat anxiety. "I was probably physically and mentally addicted," Wentz reveals. "It started from insomnia and anxiety from flying, then it spiralled. He continues, "I felt like a loser already. I'd basically gone from being the guy in Fall Out Boy to being the guy, who, like, hangs out all day. I didn't see how I'd ever come out on the other side."

Things only got worse when Wentz split from Simpson. "I was scared of everything. I thought there were always people listening to me," he says. "Like, I had my house searched for bugs. It was crazy."

Wentz says he is clean now, thanks to his son Bronx, 4, and extensive work with a therapist.

David Bowie

Church leaders not impressed with Bowie's bar-fly version of Christ

Church leaders have reacted angrily to the release of a video to accompany David Bowie's latest single, The Next Day, in which he poses as Jesus in a bar. Lord Carey, the former Archbishop of Canterbury — the global head of the Anglican church — said the video was "juvenile" and urged Christians to "rise above it." But he also couldn't resist having a dig: "I doubt that Bowie would have the courage to use Islamic imagery — I very much doubt it." The video contains a sequence of Bowie in a bar in robes, striking a Christ-like pose. Gary Oldman and Marion Cotillard are also featured. Oldman is dressed as a priest, while Cotillard is in her underwear, with blood spurting from two wounds in her hands.

SLEEK & SEXY

Humidity can be measured two ways — relatively or by dew point — but who needs percentages when frizzy hair is the best dead giveaway?

This season's most delectable hair trends, however, are seemingly without regard for humidity. Styles spotted on the runways rarely swayed from sleek, but how strands were tied ranged from tight knots (at Ralph Lauren and Givenchy) to simple braids (at Jason Wu and Marchesa) and low-slung ponytails (at Michael Kors and Jil Sander). The common theme among them was simplicity, with not a complicated up-do in sight. Therefore, replicating this season's knotty trends should be a cinch — it's beating the humidity and fighting off frizz that will take some technique.

Using a wax to build hair's defence against frizz before styling can work. Waxes both seal moisture in and prevent excess water from entering the hair cuticle, which is what ultimately causes strands to puff up and kink, no matter the season.

Hair waxes are also known as pomade, styling crème, paste and whip. The degree of thickness depends on the percentage of other ingredients added versus a base wax, like beeswax. Generally speaking, the finer your hair, the more viscous (watery) your pomade or wax should be. If you have thick, curly hair, a heavier wax would work best to hold your sleek top-knot in place all day. If you have fine, straight hair, pick a product more closely resembling a whip.

YOUR HAIR CARE MENU

APPETIZER, MAIN AND DESSERT FOR YOUR DAMAGED LOCKS

Popular hair care ingredients read like a meal and deliver on nourishment, too. Fixes like argan oil, caffeine, avocado and coconut have stepped up the hair repair game so no damage goes unfed and genuine health gets a fill-up.

By feeding your hair a hefty meal of antioxidizing oils, strengthening proteins, and conditioning butters, you can reinforce strength so the threat of breakage won't spoil your appetite for spending summer days outdoors and lounging around your neighbour's saltwater pool.

Here is a closer look at the menu:

ANTIOXIDANT SALAD (PROTECTION)

Vitamins A, B, C, E and K can be found in numerous hair products. They offer dull and depleted hair protection against oxidative damage (when environmental factors cause your hair to lose protective electrons to free radicals) and bring back plenty of healthy shine. You can find these vitamins by searching product labels for ingredients like apricot oil, pomegranate oil, argan oil, coconut oil, beta carotene, phytochemicals and grapeseed extract. Nourishing to all types of hair.

PROTEIN MAIN (STRENGTH)

Each strand of hair is comprised of three layers of proteins piled atop one another. When the second layer, the cuticle, is damaged, your hair becomes officially dry and damaged.

A protein-rich meal aids in smoothing the proteins into place and building elasticity so strands won't break from brittleness, and makes it easier for them to hold onto moisture.

Protein-rich products range from shampoos to leave-in hair treatments and show up as keratin, collagen, flaxseed and soy-based additives, for example. Fatty oils can weigh fine hair down (therefore best to use overnight) but are generally well absorbed by coarser textures.

CONDITIONING DESSERT (MOISTURE)

Conditioner does for your hair what something sweet after dinner does for our craving — satisfies. Look for shea, jojoba, mango and coconut butters if you prefer natural ingredients to fight frizz, and if your hair can handle the weight, or glycerin and silicone complexes for smoothness and shine on finer textures. All types of hair will mellow out after a cool and creamy conditioner.

50 SHADES OF WHITE

QUICK-FIX TEETH WHITENING KITS ARE EASY TO USE

HEMERA/THINKSTOCK

At-home teeth whitening kits are a fraction of the cost of what you would pay to see your dentist. Products are easy and safe to use so you don't have to give up on your favourite vices.

The effective agent in most whitening products is hydrogen peroxide (H2O2). It is also likely the most popular bathroom cabinet essential (you would recognize the brown bottle with white writing, right?) because it's simply a combination of water and oxygen, and extremely affordable.

Hydrogen peroxide is one of the best germicidal agents for a household full of kids — when you used to fall off your bike and scrape your knee, your mom likely doused the bandage in H202 before sending you back outside, but these days you should consider hydrogen peroxide your ticket to whiter teeth.

Choose a teeth-whitening product with controlled amounts of hydrogen peroxide on the label. Take your pick of kits, toothpaste and mouthwash — they all have the right amount of hydrogen peroxide to whiten your teeth safely at home.

The strongest whitening kits on store shelves have 14 per cent hydrogen peroxide. Whitening mouthwashes are often made effective by a combination of hydrogen peroxide and sodium hexametaphosphate. An alternative to H202 is carbamide peroxide, also found in whitening products, which is slower to oxidize and roughly one-third the strength of hydrogen peroxide. It may be the better option for whitening highly sensitive teeth.

As for maintaining your newly whitened teeth, think more so about how acidic your food is than its inherent colour. Salt and vinegar chips for example, though extremely delicious, are highly acidic and may contribute to the erosion of tooth enamel. Same goes for orange juice, citrus fruit and white wine, which is actually more likely than red wine to stain your teeth because it's more acidic. Also, drink water after your morning espresso to rinse away the lingering crema, and keep a spare toothbrush in your bag for good measure.

PAYING LIP SERVICE

Beyoncé

Among the must-have lip shades this season are bouquets of both crimson red and barely-there nudes so subtle they nearly conceal your mouth. This spring, opposites attract equally.

Flesh tone lips flatter an expressively smoked eye (try this season's vivid palette of violet, indigo blue or emerald green) and also appear appropriately restrained against a bronzed complexion. Jennifer Lawrence is obviously a fan (she wears nudes often and very well) and Beyoncé always manages to make a bare lip look super fierce.

Choosing the right shade of nude is essential since it will set you up for appearing Brigitte Bardot-ish rather than passing on to the next life. Your teeth will look white rather than three shades deeper. Generally, three tones of nude lipsticks exist: Ones with apricot undertones; those with a pink tint; and true, honest beiges. Try the first two and avoid the third since that's how lips can look mistakenly chalky, like you have eaten a powdery doughnut and forgotten to tissue off.

As for red, the hottest swatches are tangerine and glossy (the ones created for Moschino by Tom Pecheux looked like freshly peeled citrus fruit) and crimson and matte. Choosing a red lipstick is truly a personal adventure to embark upon. The shade's vibrancy is so powerful, and red carries so many cultural and emotional connotations that you should try on shade after shade until you find one that makes you feel fiery.

Absolutely skip the lip liner with nude shades (you may look like a mannequin if you don't), but feel free to employ one with deep crimson lipstick. A perfectly precise line can add to the allure of red lips, like the ones created by Pat McGrath at Prada. She applied layer after layer of lipstick, blotting in between, to make sure the finished texture was opaque and deliciously rich. – Rebecca Perrin

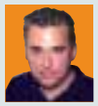
Cocktails made easy



LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell

It's never too early to get your ice cubes in a row when it comes to summertime cocktails. Though popping the cork on a bottle of wine or twisting-off the cap of a chilled beer may be easier, no drink makes your back deck feel more like the Caribbean than a mixed drink.

While some are complicated, most cocktails are a lot easier to make than you might think. Warm weather favourites like the Bloody Caesar (invented in Canada), the Margarita and the Cosmopolitan are no-brainers.

I love to get my Mojito on this time of year. The Cuban classic, which combines white rum, sugar, lime juice, sparkling water, mint leaves and a bit of muddling, is one of the most refreshing drinks in the mixology handbook.

Bacardi — Cuba's hometown hero — is the standard white rum of choice for a Mojito. I kneel to liquid tradition, but find the new wave of white spiced rums make an even better impression in the glass. Captain Morgan Silver Spiced Rum ($24.49 to $29.99) mixes white spices, vanilla and a subtle sweetness that works wonders with the Mojito's minty personality. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. Scrambled eggs made with velvety brie cheese and savoury smoked salmon is a real treat for a Mother's Day breakfast.

I have given a choice of using natural liquid egg substitutes instead of using three eggs per person, which have excess fat and cholesterol.

1. In large skillet sprayed with vegetable oil, add egg substitute or eggs and milk.

2. On a medium heat continue to scramble just until eggs are almost set. Do not overcook.

3. Serve the scrambled eggs with smoked salmon and brie cheese over top and sprinkle with salt and ground pepper.

This recipe serves two. MIKE MCCOLL

NHL playoffs. Injuries cripple Montreal as Ottawa streaks through to Round 2

Game 5

Senators	Canadiens

The Ottawa Senators are moving on to the second round of NHL playoffs.

Craig Anderson made 33 saves and Cory Conacher scored twice on a shaky Peter Budaj as the Senators downed the Montreal Canadiens 6-1 on Thursday night.

Ottawa won the best-of-seven Eastern Conference quarter-final 4-1 and will move on to the second round for the first time since 2007, when they reached the Stanley Cup final only to fall to the Anaheim Ducks.

The victory gives Ottawa time to rest up and heal bruises before the conference semi-finals begin next week.

Zack Smith, Kyle Turris, Daniel Alfredsson and Erik Condra also scored for Ottawa, who were underdogs as the seventh seed in the East but who were bolstered down the stretch by the return of top players like defencemen Erik Karlsson and Jared Cowan.

P.K. Subban scored for injury-stricken Montreal, which failed to solve Anderson. They scored only nine goals in the series, while their own spotty goaltending allowed 20.

Budaj made 23 saves.

Desperate to stay alive, Montreal stormed out of the gate and Anderson robbed Rene Bourque with the glove on a one-timer in the opening moments.

At the other end, Budaj was on the hotseat replacing the injured Carey Price in the Montreal net and the nerves showed early as the Senators scored on their third shot of the night. A generous rebound was left in front for Smith to backhand into an open net only 2:17 into the game.

Another puck slipped behind him off a post and Conacher was there to tap it in at 12:26.

Walk it out: Jays' bases-loaded free pass gives Rays win

MLB. Contest featuring reigning Cy Young Award winners decided in extra innings

Jays starter R.A. Dickey delivers a pitch to the Rays on Thursday.
MIKE CARLSON/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Luke Scott drew a bases-loaded walk with two outs in the 10th inning to give the Tampa Bay Rays a 5-4 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays on Thursday night.

Scott fell behind 0-2 in the count before taking four straight balls from Brad Lincoln. The Rays loaded the bases on Evan Longoria's double off Aaron Loup (1-3) and two walks.

The game featured a rare matchup of reigning Cy Young Award winners; however, David Price and R.A. Dickey were not involved in the decision. It was only the third time since the Cy Young has been awarded in both leagues that reigning winners have faced each other the following season.

In the other matchups, Atlanta's Tom Glavine beat Roger Clemens and the New York Yankees 6-2 on July 15, 1999, and the Mets' Frank Viola defeated the Dodgers' Orel Hershiser 1-0 on Aug. 28, 1989.

Dickey allowed three runs and five hits, walked five and struck out five in six innings for the Blue Jays. He left with a 4-3 lead that Steve Delabar relinquished by giving up a solo homer to the first batter the reliever faced, ex-Blue Jay Yunel Escobar leading off the seventh.

Price worked eight innings for Tampa Bay, yielding four runs (two earned) and seven hits in eight innings.

Scott singled to right field with the potential go-ahead run on second base with two outs in the bottom of the eighth, but Longoria was thrown out at home by Jays outfielder Jose Bautista.

Ailing Bulls all-star back at practice

It started with the flu, and turned into a hospital stay. There were terrible headaches and weakness. Just walking was a chore.

All at the worst time for Luol Deng and the Chicago Bulls.

The all-star forward made an appearance at Chicago's practice facility on Thursday, but it was clear from his drawn appearance and measured tone that he might not be able to make it back in time to play in the Bulls' post-season series against the Miami Heat.

"I don't know. I want to play, but I don't know what I can do," Deng said. "I just, I haven't done anything."

Deng joined his teammates for the film session covering Wednesday night's 115-78 loss that evened the series heading into Game 3 in Chicago on Friday night. He also got on the court and took a few jumpers, but that was all he could handle.

GIVING KIDS A SPORTING CHANCE IN SASKATOON

With the venerable Canadian penny on its way out, the 50 members of the Chinook District School Division staff started a friendly challenge: They held a contest to see who could fill the jars on their desks with the most pennies.

"We decided to call it a 'penny war' because it was a serious competition," says Jackie Wiebe, one of the organizers of the fundraiser. "We chose Canadian Tire Jumpstart because children's causes are very dear to our hearts."

When the contest ended on Valentine's Day, the staff had raised $152.85. The lucky winner won a free pizza meal for their class.

Canadian Tire Swift Current Dealer Michel Deguire says it won't take long for those pennies to make a big difference. All local donations to Jumpstart stay in Swift Current, and for every dollar that is donated locally, Michel will most likely match it. The donation amount quickly doubled, which made it enough to ensure that several kids from the Swift Current community could participate in their favourite sport this year.

"The average request for support we get is around $100," says Deguire, "so the money raised by the Chinook School Division will go a long way…. every penny counts!"

CANADIAN TIRE JUMPSTART HELPS KIDS REALIZE THEIR SPORTING DREAMS

What kid doesn't love to swim, dance or play soccer, basketball, baseball or hockey? Not only are those activities fun, but research also shows that physical activity and access to sports for children leads to increased self esteem, strong leadership skills and improved school performance.

The reality is that one in three Canadian families can't afford to enrol their sons and daughters in sport and recreational programs. That's where Canadian Tire Jumpstart comes in. The national charitable program is making a real difference in the lives of young kids from age four to 18, and its annual May Red Ball Campaign contributes to those efforts. The campaign's slogan, "Together we can help all kids play," couldn't be more apt.

In return for a $2 donation at any Canadian Tire Retail, Sport Chek, Atmosphere, Mark's or Canadian Tire Gas+ store, customers will receive a mini red volleyball or soccer ball throughout May. One hundred per cent of donations go directly to help deserving kids in each store's community participate in organized sport and recreation.

Since Canadian Tire Jumpstart launched in 2005, it has helped more than 570,000 (and counting) kids take part in 73 different activities. "Our vision is more than getting children involved in sports and recreation—it's to have a country where all kids have a chance to fulfill their dreams," says Johnny Misley, the President of Canadian Tire Jumpstart Charities.

Jumpstart is unique in its ability to work in every community across Canada, with 332 local chapters built on the support from volunteers. These chapters work closely with more than 2,600 community partners to identify families with financial needs whose children would benefit from the programs. Jumpstart Ambassador and Olympic gold medalist Rosie MacLennan explains, "there are so many benefits to participating in sports, from gaining social skills to building great friendships. All kids should have this opportunity, which is why I believe in the power of Jumpstart."

This year Jumpstart is proud to welcome Sport Chek and Atmosphere stores, to the family. Since these two banners came on board in January, they have raised more than $550,000 alone. Also, again this year we have support from a partner beyond the enterprise family Pita Pit who will also be offering Jumpstart red balls in exchange for a $2 donation.

"We're giving children the chance to learn life skills, create lasting friendships and fulfill their dreams," says Misley. "That's the power of sport."
